Prohibition Argument—Old Stuff

I see by the papers, as Will Rogers used to say, they are having a prohibition argument in the neighborhood of Atoka, Okla.

In the rural community of Mount Carmel 10 families are trying to escape from the relief rolls by cultivating a state-sponsored vineyard. A local preacher put a curse on the enterprise, praying that worms would attack the crop.

Why? Because what the relievers are growing aren't table grapes—they are wine grapes.

Praying for worms does seem a bit un-Christianlike. But tolerance is seldom a virtue wherever prohibition raises its tyrannical head.

A long memory reminds me that while national prohibition was still in effect some foolish people in New Jersey got hold of a wood alcohol drink and went blind. And a prohibition zealot told reporters, "It served them right."

But most people have a greater degree of charity than that one misguided soul, and the revulsion from that news report was one of the factors that helped turn Americans away from national prohibition.

We take the same slant on this Oklahoma vineyard case. It's simply a matter of priorities. The preacher thinks prohibition comes first. But we consider the first priority to be those 10 families' commendable desire to get off the relief rolls.

City employee electrocuted

A lineman for the city electric company was pronounced dead at Memorial Hospital about 1 p.m. today after being electrocuted while working on a power line on South Main St., according to Hope Police Department.

William J. O'Rourke of 303 N. Margaret was rushed from the scene by the Hempstead County Ambulance Service, but was pronounced dead at the hospital's emergency room.

O'Rourke was 26.

A spokesman for the city said O'Rourke was "fusing a main line fuse" when the incident occurred.

"It was a freakish accident," the spokesman said. (He) was apparently touching a guy wire that came in contact with a "flash" from the fuse."

Social worker latest victim in Chinatown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young Chinese social worker has become the latest victim in a string of gangland style murders in Chinatown.

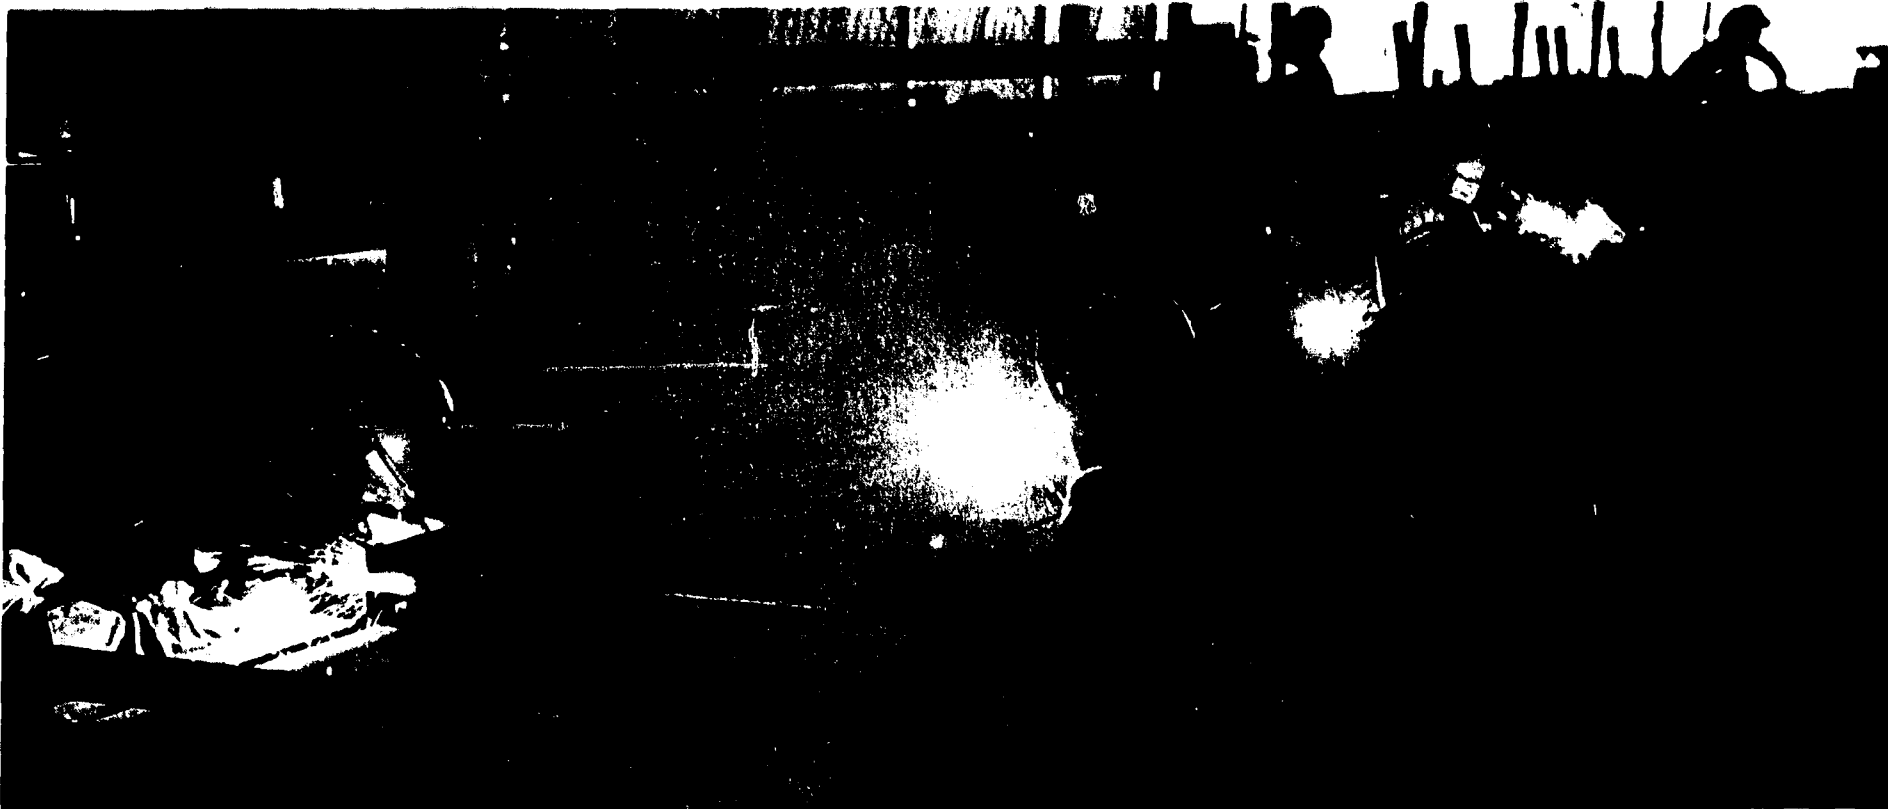

Barry Fong-Torres, 29, executive director of the Youth Services and Coordinating Center in Chinatown, was shot in the abdomen and the head when he answered the doorbell of his apartment late Monday night, authorities said.

Beneath the body of Fong-Torres, who recently told a friend that he feared death at the hands of Chinatown street gangs, was a bloodstained misspelled note reading, "Pig informers Die Yong."

Police said that in addition to the Fong-Torres slaying, they were investigating the deaths of nine Chinese by other Chinese since March 1970 and 17 assaults of the same nature since the beginning of this year.

Production starts at Tex-Ark Joist

Tex-Ark Joist, Inc., started production Monday at their new plant site near the proving grounds north of Hope.

The new plant manufactures joists for use in the building industry for support in flooring and roof systems.

The 119,000-square-foot building will house more than 15,000 tons of raw material used in the manufacturing process, and will employ 220 persons. All raw materials, angle iron and round iron, are cut into various lengths and then welded to specifications. More than 40,000 tons of joists can be manufactured annually.

C. M. Munns of Hope is president of the corporation. He and his wife Nancy moved to Hope from Florence, S.C. W. R. "Bill" White, of Hope, executive vice president, explained that a wire welding process is used at Tex-Ark Joist, and that this process is relatively new in the steel industry. Between 75 and 80 persons are employed at the plant at the present time, White said. The Red River Vocational-Technical School conducted a training program to prepare the employees for jobs at the plant.

The mill has facilities capable of producing joists from six feet in length up to 160 feet in length. At peak production officials of the company expect sales to reach as much as $12 million annually, and cover a six-state area.

Tex-Ark is a corporation owned by Tennessee Forging Steel Services, Inc. All raw materials used in the Hope plant are supplied by the parent corporation with the majority of the materials coming from the Newport mill and from the Tennessee mills.

Parking Authority created

A city Parking Authority was created by the Hope City Directors last night, making it possible for the eventual development of four downtown parking areas. The authority will be operated by five commissioners appointed to staggered terms.

The directors are expected to make the appointments to the commissions at the next regular meetings.

The parking areas under consideration will be located on land to be purchased under the Downtown Urban Renewal Program. The authority will have the power to issue bonds to develop the parking area there will be an increase in taxation of local residents and the bonds will be paid from parking revenues.

In other action, the board directed City Manager Garland Medders to prepare plans for the construction of a fire station to be located on the north side of town. The station, hopefully, will be constructed within easy access of the new construction near the interchanges on Interstate-30. The directors requested that a suitable location be found, and that plans for a building and equipment—along with estimated operating cost—be completed in time to be considered in the 1973 budget.

The directors also set July 25 as a public hearing on an application for a taxi franchise in Hope. The application has been filed by J. B. Ingram and James C. Gaines. The hearing is set for 7 p.m., coinciding with the regular meeting of the directors.

The board also discussed a pipeline crossing agreement with the Mo-Pac Railroad that is needed in the development of Sewer Improvement District No. 5. The district will serve the Highway 29-I-30 interchange area.

The district plans to use the railroad right-of-way under the interstate for a short distance to install a force line which will pump sewage from the north side of I-30 into the sewer system now under development on the south side of the highway.

The Mo-Pac has requested a payment of $50 for the permit and an annual lease of $120 for using the right-of-way.

The directors approved the payment of the right-of-way fee, but refused to comply with the lease agreement.

drawal rate of 5,000 for the summer months was half the level of the May-June rate of 10,000.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who made Nixon's announcement, said the President also ordered that no draftees will be sent to South Vietnam unless they volunteer for service there.

Withdrawal for troops announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today plans for a two-month withdrawal of 10,000 U.S. troops from South Vietnam and directed that only draftees who volunteer be sent there in the future.

Nixon's action would reduce the authorized troop level to 39,000 by Sept. 1.

The average monthly withdrawal tour by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew of battered cities in Virginia, Maryland and New York.

The Senate acted almost immediately. The $200 million would be administered by the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which already has a disaster relief fund of $92.5 million.

The House still must approve the bill, but it was uncertain whether it would do so before the end of Friday until July 1.

White House officials said the money would be used for such things as repairing bridge and other public facilities and was "just a small part" of the total aid available from other agencies, including the Small Business Administration, which supervises disaster loans to businessmen and homeowners.

The Senate voted the funds through an amendment offered by Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Charles Mathias, R-Md., a departmental appropriation bill.

It disregarded an objection from Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., who urged delaying action until the White House offered a more precise estimate of how much flood relief was needed.

The five states suffering greatest damage from Agnes's floods were Maryland, Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania and Florida.

The White House said the ad-

Senate debate next step for handgun bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill banning commercial sale of cheap handguns known as "Saturday Night Specials" heads for Senate debate after being approved Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he will press in the Senate for a much stronger measure to outlaw ownership and sale of all handguns.

The bill approved in committee prohibits sale to the general public of revolvers with less than a three-inch barrel and pistols with an over-all length of less than six inches. These are easily concealable weapons.

Its chief backer, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said the measure would eliminate about one million of the 2.6 million handguns sold annually in the United States, including "the weapons used most frequently by criminals."

"I've tried contacting the people we need through dermatologists for a year, but have had no response," said Ralph Anderson, a clinical laboratory official.

Feldman said the hospital needs at least 50 units of plasma or donations from 50 persons.

He said 10 children, or about 10 per cent of the leukemia patients contracting chicken pox since the hospital opened in 1962, have died of the disease.

"It doesn't happen every day, but when the physician needs it, the plasma, we have to have it," Anderson added.

Additional relief funds could also be used for aiding recovery from other disasters, including the recent flooding at Rapid City, S.D.

President Nixon Tuesday declared California a major disaster area as a result of flood damage caused by a break in a levee in Sacramento County.

Delegate's views changed little by visit by Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's visit to Arkansas Tuesday apparently did not significantly alter the sentiments of Arkansas' delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

McGovern, who was in the state several hours Tuesday, met with Gov. Dale Bumpers and the other members of the 27-member delegation, which is pledged to favorite son Wilbur D. Mills.

After the meeting, the Associated Press polled a number of the delegates to see how their views had been affected by the visit of McGovern, the leading contender for the Democratic nomination for president.

Mrs. Diane Kincaid of Fayetteville, vice chairman of the delegation, said, "What it all comes down to is that nothing is significantly changed."

Her position is that she will vote for Mills, but that if the Mills candidacy for the presidential nomination ends she would "listen closely" to what Mills and Bumpers say to the delegation.

Bumpers, chairman of the delegation, was asked Tuesday if he would support McGovern if Mills faltered. "I intend to support the Democratic nominee," Bumpers replied.

The governor refused to be pinned down on the question.

McGovern described his visit with the delegation as a "free, friendly, satisfying exchange of views" in which he said he would welcome their support if they were released from the commitment to Mills.

Mrs. Kincaid said McGovern told the delegates that he "coveted" their votes. "I appreciate his coming to Arkansas and talking to us," she said.

Special blood is needed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — St. Jude's Children Research Hospital has issued an urgent call for a special kind of blood to fight the sometimes-fatal effects of chicken pox on young leukemia patients.

The hospital has asked for blood from persons subject to shingles, a minor skin blister infection.

"Chicken pox hits our children much harder than normal children," said Dr. Sandor Feldman of the hospital's infectious disease service.

"Drugs used for cancer leukemia therapy suppress the child's natural ability to fight chicken pox," he said.

Doctors use the blood donated by adults who experience shingles to prepare a plasma solution that can prevent and help cure the normally mild chicken pox.

The hospital has been unsuccessful in previous attempts at building up reserves of the plasma solution.

"I've tried contacting the people we need through dermatologists for a year, but have had no response," said Ralph Anderson, a clinical laboratory official.

Feldman said the hospital needs at least 50 units of plasma or donations from 50 persons.

He said 10 children, or about 10 per cent of the leukemia patients contracting chicken pox since the hospital opened in 1962, have died of the disease.

"It doesn't happen every day, but when the physician needs it, the plasma, we have to have it," Anderson added.

Weaver Collins, at left, a native of Hope, is retiring at the end of the month after 24 years as a federal employee. He served as a clerk and carrier for 14 years and has been a city carrier for the past several years. Roy Sutton of Texarkana at right, a distribution clerk and a federal employee for 23 years, will retire effective July 1. Sutton was transferred to the Hope Post Office five years ago from the Texarkana office.

Efforts to cut arms bill nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backing President Nixon's war and weapons policies, the House has decisively rejected efforts to cut a $21.3-billion arms bill and to write a war-pullout deadline into it.

It also shouted down a proposal to outlaw U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese dams and dikes. The White House has denied reports that U.S. bombing has struck such targets.

In voting Tuesday, amendments to cut $1.7 billion from weapons projects including the Trident missile submarine, B1 bomber and Safeguard anti-missile site for Washington were defeated.

The House then voted 334 to 59 to approve and send to the Senate the $21.3-billion authorization for tanks, missiles, ships, planes and other weapons for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Opponents contended that the President's accelerated Trident and B1 development requests could undermine the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation agreement and destroy the confidence of taxpayers who expected bigger weapons cuts because of the accords.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., argued, "Obviously, we've got the power to blow the Soviets to smithereens. And all we're talking about here is how fine a powder to grind the other peoples of the earth into."

The amendment by Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill., to prohibit U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese dams and dikes was quickly rejected by voice vote.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Oakcrest Chapel with the Rev. Norris Steele officiating. Interment will be in Memory Gardens under the direction of Oakcrest Funeral Home of Hope.

Wallace steadily improving

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has gained six pounds since a bullet was removed from his spinal canal June 18 and has stood between parallel bars in a continuing physical therapy program, according to his physician.

Dr. Stacy Collins, Wallace's former classmate and the neurosurgeon who removed the bullet following an assassination attempt against the governor, said Tuesday that Wallace has shown steady progress. Wallace will remain in Holy Cross Hospital, where he was taken after he was shot in a Laurel, Md., shopping center May 15, for at least seven more days, Collins said. He added that Wallace's progress is such that he will be able to attend the Democratic National Convention opening July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Demo committee is singing song: 'Georgia On My Mind'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Credentials Committee has Georgia on its mind today after sounding a cheerful note in George S. McGovern's march to Miami Beach and turning the music sour for a delegate named Daley.

The panel was to take up convention-seating challenges from five states, including Maine, Iowa, Kentucky and Nevada, but Georgia's hearing appeared most rife with controversy.

Seventeen of Georgia's 53 delegates were being contested on grounds the state violated many of the McGovern-promulgated rules. The charges included under-representation of women, youth and blacks, and election irregularities.

Strategists for McGovern, whose forces make up about half the 150-member committee, rate the Georgia case as one of the three most important of about 75 separate challenges still facing the panel.

The other two, says Eli Segal, McGovern's credentials coordinator, are those in Chicago and California, both of them cases which provided major developments Tuesday.

McGovern opponents hope to wrest away 150 of his 271 California delegates with the argument that the state's winner-take-all primary violates the spirit of reforms prohibiting unit rule.

But a committee hearing examiner, Burke Marshall, ruled Tuesday that the reforms had not been transgressed in California, although he left it to the full committee to decide whether the results were nonetheless unfair.

His finding considerably buoyed the McGovern camp which feared their man's first-ballot potential at Miami Beach could evaporate should he lose the California case. The entire committee will rule on the issue Thursday.

Another examiner's report, meanwhile, came as a blow to Mayor Richard J. Daley and 58 other uncommitted delegates from Chicago. Former U.S. Atty. Cecil Poole found that Daley's group had violated several reform guidelines "both in letter and in spirit."

Daley's delegation is challenged by the Rev. Jesse Jackson and several McGovern supporters who contend the mayor failed to include proper representation of women and minorities and engaged in unfair campaign practices.

The Credentials Committee decides the Daley case Friday.

In other action Tuesday, the committee rejected a challenge to Alabama's 37-member delegation on a vote of 69 to 55. A predominantly black faction led by Dr. John L. Cashin Jr. had sought full recognition in place of the Wallace-controlled regulars.

Challenges involving portions of the South Carolina and Florida delegations were also dismissed by the committee. Those contests were based upon an appeal for more women.

Fragile cease-fire is on line, Whitlaw holds talks

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — William Whitlaw, Britain's minister for Northern Ireland, meets militant Protestant leaders today in an attempt to convince them not to disturb the fragile cease-fire now in its second day.

Whitlaw hoped to persuade the Protestants that the government's new conciliatory approach to the Irish Republican Army is not a sellout and will serve the interests of Northern Ireland's Protestant majority as well as the Roman Catholic minority.

Protestant hard-liners contend that the IRA truce, which began at midnight Monday, will help the guerrillas escape punishment for their terrorist bombing and killing and at the same time permit them to maneuver to force Northern Ireland under the rule of the Catholics in the republic to the south.

Meanwhile, sporadic violence continued to flare after the start of the truce, but it was on a small scale compared to the bloodletting of much of the past three years.

Two bombs exploded in an East Belfast Protestant neighborhood late Tuesday. They caused little damage and no casualties.

An 18-year-old Protestant youth died during the day of wounds he got before the truce. A 38-year-old Catholic was shot dead when the truce was seven hours old. Reports said he refused to stop at an IRA street barricade.

The deaths raised Ulster's death toll from communal violence to at least 389 in three years. This year alone 183 people are known to have been killed.

Mobs of young Protestants and Catholics clashed in a rock and bottle fight at Lurgan for four hours Tuesday night before police and British troops forced them apart.

The Protestants' Ulster Defense Assn. has threatened to barricade large Protestant neighborhoods unless Whitlaw ordered the army to reopen Catholic areas the IRA has sealed off. That would raise the prospect of clashes between the Protestants and the Army, and the Catholics and the IRA could be drawn into the fight again.

William Craig, leader of the Protestant militants or the Ulster Vanguard, branded the IRA truce "a certain recipe for civil war."

The party was in the sunken garden of their antebellum home. Tables, seating four, were placed around the swimming pool, and held arrangements of daisies and hurricane lamps. Floating on the pool were circles of hydrangeas. The entire area was lighted by hurricane lamps on pedestals.

The serving table held an arrangement of magnolias and burning votive candles. Handles of the punch cups were adorned with miniature roses and wedding rings tied with green satin ribbon. Punch, hors d'oeuvres and dips were served, followed by a buffet dinner.

Miss Hodges was attired in a long cotton frock of white, red and black.

Ten couples attended and a special guest was Mrs. Gary Love, Dallas, Texas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Proetz. Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Blackwood, Fulton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hodges, North Little Rock, parents of the honored couple, also attended.

Miss Hodges and Mr. Blackwood will be married August 5 in Park Hill Baptist Church, North Little Rock, Arkansas.

PAULA DEAN MESSER

Couple plans August rites

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Messer announce the engagement of their daughter, Paula Dean, to Michael Ray Burks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burks, all of Texarkana.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Liberty-Eylau High School and attended Texarkana College. The prospective bridegroom, also a graduate of Liberty-Eylau High School, is a junior at Ouchita Baptist University in Arkadelphia, Ark.

The wedding will be an event of August 18 at the West Texarkana Baptist Church.

Miss Messer is the granddaughter of Mrs. A.W. Pickard of Hope.

HELEN BOTTEL

This Is Gratitude?

Dear Helen:

Observed on a country road: A young man, bearded and in old clothes, was walking his dog along the creek. Down the road he saw a lady beside her car, which had a flat tire. She appeared perplexed, so the man offered his help. She stood and watched as he quickly changed the tire, then directed her to the nearest gas station where she could have the flat repaired. She muttered, "Thank you."

As the young man walked away, the lady shouted to him with venom in her voice, "You lousy hippie!!!" Then she jumped in her car and drove off.

The fellow just kept walking his dog. The story needs no explanation. In various, not so obvious ways, it happens often.—MRS. C.L.

Dear Mrs. L.: Just one correction: This isn't a "lady"—she's a shrew!—H. Dear Helen:

We pay a lot for the convenience of spray cans. So the least manufacturers could do is make them efficient!

Almost invariably, the pressure quits before the can is empty. Or it expels only air when perhaps one-fourth of the liquid is still down there. Or it dribbles instead of sprays, no matter how much you shake it.

What can we do to stop being cheated? When we buy seven ounces and can get only about five out of the can, that's deceptive advertising, or something.—LET US SPRAY Dear L.U.S.

Write to the president of the company which distributes the inefficient spray can.

If several companies are at fault, write 'em all—and get friends who also feel cheated to join you. Manufacturers are highly sensitive to consumer reaction. And if they aren't, then write Ralph Nader, Washington, D.C.—H. Dear Helen:

Non-Jealous Wife presents a woman who won't let her husband dance with other wives and you actually side with this predatory female!

Just who the H do you think you are, telling women to lure husbands away from their mates? It just so happens in this depraved age, no one has respect for marriage—and I wish some dame would walk off with "Non-Jealous's" husband just to show her!

If that "jealous" wife had any sense she would stay home from all parties attended by the same people again and again, because eventually she'll lose her man. As for becoming bored with each other, if a woman can't keep her marriage going without parties and other people, I feel sorry for her.—MAD Dear Mad:

You'll be pleased to hear that I was hard-hit for my "non-jealous" stand, (implying that women who make their husbands sit in a corner at parties are just too possessive—especially when they dance it up with other husbands).

My conclusion: there must be a great many insecure wives in the world. Doesn't anyone trust her man enough to share him?—H. Dear Helen:

About the suggested law requiring an unmarried mother on welfare to give up her illegitimate children—if she has more than two: I have three children by two men. Both promised to marry me but flew the coop when things got rough, so I'm on welfare. Now I'm carrying another baby, but I won't give it away. My children are all I have. They'd better not try taking them away from me!—Lois Dear Helen:

I don't think Welfare recipients should get a bonus for every illegitimate child they have, especially after the second mistake! If they women knew the state would support them, maybe they take their Pills. And if they won't then they should sterilized!—MR. SK Dear Helen:

What many thinkers and lawmakers don't realize is that poverty stricken, often married women want babies because they provide a job.

Little Texan sets record for filibuster

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas added four hours and 11 minutes to the world filibuster record today, but his ordeal failed to add a dime to the state budget to help the mentally ill.

McKool held the floor for 42 hours and 33 minutes, eclipsing the mark of 38 hours and 22 minutes set by South Carolina State Sen. Ralph Gasque in 1968.

After the 5-foot-4 Dallas lawmaker sat down, the Senate rejected his amendment by voice vote and sent to the House its $4.1 billion spending bill for the year beginning Sept. 1.

He complained of numbness and aching bones. This did not stop him, however, from standing and talking some more for television cameras.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Sodium causes fluid retention

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am 60 years old and have swelling in my feet and ankles, also my face, eyelids, hands and other parts. My normal weight is 104 one day and the next day it is 112 or more. I feel huge. I have been under a doctor's care, but am frightened because my eyelids are still swollen, and as soon as I stop taking water pills, I begin to swell. Would you please discuss edema and what a person can eat to feel comfortable. I am afraid to drink any water or eat anything at this time. I would certainly appreciate your advice as I must work five days a week in order to live and pay my bills.

Dear Reader — There are numerous causes for accumulation of fluid, called edema. Sometimes it is caused by hormones. Fluid may accumulate before the monthly period, and many women have difficulties with this problem in the menopausal and post-menopausal periods when they are taking hormones.

Heart disease can also cause edema because of poor circulation. It can cause fluid to accumulate in the lungs, causing an asthmatic type reaction, sometimes called cardiac asthma, or it can cause fluid in the feet, legs, liver and elsewhere. So can kidney disease.

The important thing to do is to correct the underlying problem, if possible, whether it is hormones, heart, liver, kidney or otherwise.

Obviously, since there are so many causes for edema, its treatment involves a long list of different medicines. Only your doctor, who is totally familiar with your case and understands the causes for your edema, can know which one of these is proper in your case.

The diet is important in most of these problems and I would especially want you to know that drinking ordinary water in most instances will not influence your retention of fluid. Rarely the sodium content of city water is too high. If so you buy bottled water, make sure it is distilled water, not mineral water. Your body remains fluid because it retains the sodium that occurs in salt.

Distilled water does not contain sodium.

Fruits and fruit juices are allowed and usually contain very little sodium. Although some vegetables contain some sodium, if they are cooked without salt and no salt is added, they can usually be eaten. The same thing applies to rice and most cereals. Of course, you need to avoid products made with salt, like some bakery products. Sodium occurs in most animal products, including meat, fish, fowl and dairy products. These have to be eaten in limited quantities to restrict the salt intake in the diet. However, if one overdoes this, he will not be getting adequate protein. For most people, I would suggest more non-animal products, that is, fruits, vegetables and cereals, and avoiding using salt in cooking. This will go a long way toward controlling salt intake. If a more severe restriction is needed, you should go over it very carefully with your doctor, or a dietitian he recommends.

Quarry brothers have bad night; Ali only goes 7

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS (AP) — Muhammed Ali wants Joe Frazier and Bob Foster to fight a bout with Ali after a short and said night of boxing for the Quarry brothers.

After the Quarrys were stopped in their fights Tuesday night, a Quarry relative wound up in jail after a melee in the $100 seats after the Ali-Jerry Quarry bout in Las Vegas Convention Center.

The 30-year-old Ali, 216½, crowned with 27-year-old Jerry, 198, early in their heavyweight bout. He stood in the corner and gestured as if to say, "Come on. Give me your best punch."

Ali, making Quarry his sixth victim in six bouts since losing to heavyweight champion Frazier last year, started hitting Jerry at will in the fifth round and punished him with innumerable blows in the sixth.

Ali landed about a dozen blows before the fight was stopped 19 seconds into the seventh round.

Foster, 33, handled Mike Quarry, 21, with calculated calmness to defend the light heavyweight championship for the 10th time—a record. A left hook knocked the youngest-ever challenger in the division on his back for three minutes.

Foster said later he set up the knockout with a right to the body and a right uppercut to the jaw. Previously unbeaten Mike went down for the first time in 37 fights.

The knockout came just as the bell sounded to end round four.

Foster, at 173½, weighed one and one-half pounds less than Mike.

Meanwhile the Quarry clan argued with other fans after Jerry was defeated. Mother Arawanda and sister Diane were involved, along with Robert Colbaugh, 23, of Norwalk, Calif., a brother-in-law of Mike and Jerry.

As security guards restrained Mike, Clark County Sheriff's deputies arrested Colbaugh, who was booked for investigation of battery and held on $250 bail. No other arrests were reported.

Despite their troubles, there were cash rewards for the Quarrys: $200,000 for Jerry and $15,000 for Mike. Ali earned $500,000 and Foster $80,000 as the crowd of 6,549 in the 7,500-seat arena paid $349,800—a Nevada record gate.

Meanwhile, Ali, who previously has indicated he would fight Foster, said, "I'm back. I'm ready for Frazier. He's got to come out. He's been fighting nobody."

Foster called Mike the best challenger he's faced and said he tagged him with the same punch combination he used to KO Dick Tiger for the title in 1968.

Foster, who upped his record to 48-5 with 41 knockouts, said, "I'd like to fight a guy like Muhammed Ali. Him and I are the same type of fighters. I'll take him any time."

"He can't hit harder than me—I know that. He may outweigh me but he can't outpunch me. A fight with him is where the money is."

Ladies golf tourney is slated tomorrow

The Hope Ladies' Golf Association will host an 18-hole invitational tournament here tomorrow and the tee-off time for the "shotgun" start is 10 a.m.

Sixty-four area golfers are entered in the tournament, which features prizes for the longest drive and the ball closest to the hole (No. 7). As an extra prize, the Hope Federal Savings and Loan will give a $500 savings account for a hole-in-one on No. 7.

Registration and a coffee hour for the golfers begins at 9 o'clock, and dinner and awarding of the prizes is scheduled for 4 p.m.

Three speedsters head for matchup Sunday

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) — Bobby Unser, Pete Revson and Mark Donohue, the three fastest qualifiers in the May 27 Indianapolis 500, appear to be headed for another matchup in Sunday's Schaefer 500.

The three speedsters logged the fastest lap speeds Tuesday as the Pocono International Raceway opened for practice for the first time in a week. Rain had washed out seven straight days of activity.

The three, along with 40 other drivers entered in the third richest race in motoring, were to get a chance to improve their speeds today. Race officials said the 2.5-mile tri-oval layout would open at 9 a.m., EDT, and close at dusk.

"We're getting there slowly but surely," said Revson. "Another day and we should just about reach our peak speed."

Qualifying runs to determine the 33 fastest starters for the $400,000 race are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. EDT, Thursday. Drivers will draw for their spots in the qualifying order at a meeting with officials tonight.

Boxer still fumes

Rivals meet today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Clark Graebner the fierce-serving American tennis star, renews a bitter old personal rivalry today in a bid toward winning the Wimbledon title.

Graebner was scheduled to play his old foe Ilie Nastase of Romania, in the second round on Wimbledon's center court.

Nastase, a 25-year-old gypsy who was once a shepherd boy, is the No. 2 seed and is expected to meet Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., in the final.

The last time Graebner and Nastase played each other was at London's Royal Albert Hall in January. That match ended in one of the most astonishing scenes ever seen on a tennis court.

Graebner climbed over the net and grabbed Nastase by his shirt. The Romanian walked off the court claiming he had been intimidated.

"It had better not happen on the center court," said an official of the All-England club. "We have given all players a stern warning that anyone who misbehaves in any way will be instantly disqualified."

Graebner, of New York, is here because the Wimbledon Committee left him out of the seedings.

Nastase is one man in a three-pronged East European thrust for the Wimbledon title.

The others are Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, seeded No. 5, and Alexander Metreveli of Russia, seeded No. 8. Both earned their tennis on hard courts but got into the seeding list because the grass court stars of the World Championship Tennis professional group are not competing.

Metreveli, who spent the winter playing in the grass courts of A.S. Roma, came from behind to beat Enrique Dominguez of France 6-4, 6-4 in the second round Tuesday.

Smith, seeded the third round, faces Hank Levine of Rhode Island, 6-8, 6-3, without reaching the first round that took him to last year's final.

Mets take Phillies 7-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember the old gag about first prize being a week in Philadelphia and second prize two weeks there? Well, two National League baseball teams headed for the City of Brotherly Love Tuesday feeling a lot better about things.

New York and Philadelphia open a two-game series tonight with the Mets right back in the thick of it in the NL East following a 7-4 victory over front-running Pittsburgh and the last-place Phillies just happy to have a victory to come home on.

"They got it in the second part of a doubleheader in Chicago, also by a 7-4 score, after the Cubs took the opener 6-3."

"We needed that one badly, very badly," said Manager Frank Lucchesi, who harassed club ended a 3-10 road trip. "It will make that flight home 30 minutes shorter."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati edged slumping Los Angeles 5-4, Houston blanked San Diego 6-0, San Francisco nipped Atlanta 3-2 on Bobby Bonds' 10th-inning home run and St. Louis stretched its winning streak to seven games by edging Montreal 4-3 in 11 innings before the Expos bounced back to win the nightcap of the two-night twin bill 11-3.

Lucchesi, who admits he "takes the losses home with me," has heard rumors of late that his job is in jeopardy and had company on the road trip—new General Manager Paul Owens.

The Cubs took the opener behind Ferguson Jenkins' six-hit pitching. They scored twice in the fifth on triples by Ron Santo and Bill North and J. C. Martin's double and wrapped it up with three unearned runs in the sixth.

Mike Ryan drove in four runs for the Phils in the second game with a homer, single and double and Darrel Brandon pitched 5 2-3 strong innings of relief.

The Mets made it two in a row over the Pirates and pulled to within one game of the Bucs on Jim Fregosi's tie-breaking three-run homer in the seventh, the first pitch thrown by reliever Bob Miller. Before the series, the Mets had seemed to be staggering, losing 12 of 17 games.

But Fregosi, who had driven in only two runs in his previous 26 games, matched that total with a bases-loaded single in the first inning. The Mets then withstood Pittsburgh home runs by Richie Hebner and Al Oliver, tied the score with two runs in the sixth and won it in the seventh.

Don Gullett, making his first start in nearly two months after a siege of hepatitis, limited Los Angeles to four hits in seven innings as the Reds beat the error-plagued Dodgers and remained one-half game in front of Houston in the NL West.

The only run he surrendered was Steve Garvey's second-inning homer. The Reds wrapped it up with three runs on only one hit in the sixth. Downing walked in one run and reliever Pete Richert walked in another after errors by third baseman Garvey and shortstop Bill Russell and Denis Menke's single loaded the bases. Bobby Blinn drove in what proved to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The Detroit Tigers widened their AL East lead to two games over Baltimore by beating New York while the Orioles were losing to Milwaukee.

The Tigers welcomed left-hander Wade Blasingame to the American League with consecutive first-inning homers by Aurelio Rodriguez, Al Kaline and Willie Horton that produced four runs. That was plenty for Mickey Vernon, who won his 12th game, tying Gaylord Perry of Cleveland for the major league lead.

Angels pull off triple play to defeat Twins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

In 31 years of professional baseball, Bill Rigney has seen plenty. But the manager of the Minnesota Twins is always ready for something new.

"When you think you've seen it all," sighed Rigney Tuesday night, "something like this happens."

"This" was a triple play pulled off by the California Angels that rescued Nolan Ryan from his toughest moment and helped the fireballing pitcher hander whip the Twins 9-2.

"This" was a triple play, the mull ordinary triple play.

"This" was a triple play manufactured by Steve Braun and Harmon Killebrew, the Twins' first baseman and second baseman, respectively. And what made the triple play so tough was Killebrew was in third base and Braun on second, eliminating any force play patents.

Killebrew had pitched the Twins' fourth with a single and moved to third on Braun's double. Next, Jim Nettles flied to Jim Spencer in left. One out.

Killebrew, not the fastest runner in the American League, faked a start from third and Braun apparently thought he was running and also started to go. Third baseman Ken McMullen cut off Spencer's throw and relayed to second baseman Sandy Alomar who tagged the trapped Braun. Two out.

Next Alomar threw to shortstop Leo Cardenas, covering third, and Cardenas tagged Killebrew who was, for some unexplained reason, standing a few feet off the base. Three out.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, Detroit grounded New York 5-2, Milwaukee dropped Baltimore 6-4, Oakland trounced Texas 8-3, Boston took Cleveland 8-2 and Kansas City defeated Boston 6-4.

Spencer, normally a first baseman, was playing only his third game in the outfield but picked up an assist on the triple play—something most outfielders never manage in an entire career.

Ryan allowed only four other hits and scored the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning when he tripled and came home on Sandy Alomar's two-out single. Ken McMullen homered for the Angels.

The Detroit Tigers widened their AL East lead to two games over Baltimore by beating New York while the Orioles were losing to Milwaukee.

The Tigers welcomed left-hander Wade Blasingame to the American League with consecutive first-inning homers by Aurelio Rodriguez, Al Kaline and Willie Horton that produced four runs. That was plenty for Mickey Vernon, who won his 12th game, tying Gaylord Perry of Cleveland for the major league lead.

Repudiation of party charter is purpose of special caucus

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

House Democrats will be asked today to repudiate a proposed new Democratic party charter drafted for presentation to the party's national convention.

Incensed at what they regard as a downgrading of state Democratic leaders and elected public officials in the proposed party structure, a group of congressmen forced a special meeting of the House Democratic Caucus to put it to a vote.

The opponents, mostly big-city Democrats and members of regular party organizations, hope strong caucus action against the plan will add to the difficulties it already faces at the Miami Beach convention.

The plan, drawn up by two reform commissions created by the 1968 convention, would establish a national Democratic party with enrolled, dues-paying members. It would greatly expand the Democratic National Committee, giving a majority on the committee to locally elected persons, and authorize a national conference every four years, also controlled by delegates from the grass roots, to set party policy.

The plan aroused heated opposition at the regular monthly caucus last week and petitions were sent around for another meeting this week so it could be voted on. It takes 50 members to get a special meeting and Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., who circulated the petition, got 70 to sign up.

Annunzio, a member of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's Democratic organization, said the proposed plan would remove most of the present party leaders from positions of control, replacing them with women, youths and blacks, three categories guaranteed representation in the ruling bodies in proportion to their numbers in the voting-age population.

"I don't think that represents the Democratic party," Annunzio said Tuesday. "It's a goddamned quota system, something the Democrats have always been against. And paying dues before you can vote. That's going back to the poll tax."

Annunzio will ask the caucus to vote on a resolution stating that the plan "is not in the best interests of the Democratic party," and calling for further study of the issue.

Annunzio's objections were heightened by changes made in the plan by the convention Rules Committee last week after it had been presented to the House Democratic Caucus. Led by delegates pledged to Sen. George McGovern, the committee greatly enlarged the representation of grass-roots Democrats on the key committees and further reduced the influence of state party chairmen.

Bob Grossman, Maryland junior right handed pitcher who hurled two no-hitters this season, was voted the player of the year in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He's a Salina Beach, Calif., native.

Tony Boyle free on $179,000 bail

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle is free on $179,000 bail pending an appeal of his conviction for illegally giving union funds to political candidates.

Boyle, 70, was sentenced to five years in federal prison Tuesday and fined $130,000. He later was freed when his attorneys posted bond, which was secured by Boyle's personal assets.

Boyle was convicted of illegally contributing $49,000 in union money to political candidates, including $30,000 to the unsuccessful 1968 presidential campaign of Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Huff urged the prison sentence to deter others from similar actions. "He has breached a trust—the trust he assumed when elected by the union—and the court must take into consideration the impact the sentence today will have on others," Huff said.

The sentencing by U.S. District Court Judge Charles Richey came after an emotional appeal from Boyle's attorney not to send him to prison.

"He has made no personal gain through the crime for 10 special ordinances before Miami Council

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ten proposed antidemonstration ordinances aimed at maintaining order during the Democratic National Convention by outlawing acts ranging from cop baiting to rioting go before the Miami Beach City Council today.

The consideration comes one day after a renewed pledge of peace for the convention was offered by members of the Youth International party (Yippies).

Two of the 10 proposals are supported by Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, whose information officer, Lt. Pete Corso, stressed the chief's desire "to start out on a harmonious footing."

Pomerance had been reported as supporting all the proposals, but he later said this was the result of a mixup. He said he sent the measures—culled from those used in Los Angeles and Washington—to city lawyers only for analysis. However, all 10 wound up on the council's agenda.

The chief said he supports proposals giving him power to establish emergency curfews, and allowing police to rope off a trouble spot and permit entry only by the press or other people approved by police.

Pomerance said he did not want ordinances banning the singing of obscene songs; disorderly conduct; derogatory remarks to policemen; public use of obscenities; participation in a "riot, rout or unlawful assembly"; remaining at the scene of a riot; inciting to riot; or malicious provocations.

Yippie leaders Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman said at a news conference Tuesday all activities of the Yippies during the Democratic convention will be peaceful.

All major nondelegate groups have said they would try to keep all the demonstrations peaceful.

Ed Sanders, another Yippie leader, said, however, that special arrangements were being made for Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, whose role as an Illinois delegate is being challenged.

"We're going to bring him his seat at the airport. Then we're going to follow him everywhere he goes," said Sanders. "Just like they did to us in Chicago in 1968."

Other activities planned by Yippies during the July 10-14 conclave are a march, two picnics and a ceremonial "marriage" of the young protesters and Miami Beach senior citizens.

Bill Etter Jr. is Kiwanis speaker

William H. Etter Jr., of Washington, spoke to the Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday meeting on a program arranged by Kiwanian Jack Lowe.

Etter is of the fifth generation of one of historic Washington's pioneer families.

In recent weeks in the news media articles have appeared concerning the Louisiana Purchase. In fact, only a very few days ago the monument or marker, located at the center of the territory involved in the Louisiana Purchase was rededicated and a walk way provided in order that people interested in such things might visit the site which is located in a rather swampy place near Blackton, Arkansas in Monroe County.

Etter, something of a history buff, reviewed many interesting facts relating to the early days of the area known as the Louisiana Purchase, some 885,000 square miles of territory located between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada. The total purchase price was $15,000,000 or just a few cents an acre, making it the largest and cheapest peace time acquisition of territory in history. Actually President Jefferson's emissary to France was instructed to buy only New Orleans, but Napoleon, Emperor of France, refused to sell New Orleans, saying take all of it or none of it, so the entire territory was bought from France.

Hugh Brown, a new resident of Hope associated with Tol-Ex Oil Company, was the only guest.

President Bill Butler announced that due to the July 4 being next Tuesday, the regular Kiwanis meeting day, next weeks meeting will be held on Wednesday at the regular time and place with a "Round Table" meeting on Tuesday.

MISS CABLE CAR '72 is the title and the excuse for carrying a photo of Francesca Cresci. Francesca, 18, of San Anselmo, Calif., made her contribution in visual rather than audible terms to San Francisco's annual Cable Car Bell-Ringing Competition.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — As the world's leading industrial nation, the United States has long been accustomed to quoting figures showing it to be the first or biggest or best. Could that create future problems?

It certainly could, according to a Frenchman who advises many American corporations in marketing their products in Europe. Such statistics have been misleading since formation of the Common Market, says Bernard Krief.

Individually, it is true that the United States stands alone. But the Common Market nations collectively can show much larger figures in many industrial categories than can the United States.

There are 26 million more workers there, for example. Steel production is as high as in the United States. Sea transportation is three times larger. Reserve currencies total $40 billion compared with $13 billion here.

"Europe could become a dangerous industrial competitor to the United States," Krief said on a recent trip here from his Paris office, and he suggested that U.S. firms meet the competition head on by more aggressive exporting.

"In the U.S.A. management is very good, marketing men are very smart, and the struggle is very tough," he said. But then he noted that "less than 10 per cent of American companies have 90 per cent of the total export market."

He believes that opportunities are being missed to supply the expanding economies of Europe with consumer products. And he suggests also that the American economy might benefit from low-cost European imports.

But the most fascinating opportunity, as Krief sees it, will be in dealing with the smaller Socialist nations, not only because their needs are growing but because they provide a foothold for future trade with the Soviet Union.

Krief predicts that within two years, U.S. trade with Eastern Europe will double to more than $12 billion a year. And he foresees the likelihood "in a few years" of some Socialist nations gaining positions in the U.S. market.

In fact, he says, because of low labor costs it isn't at all unlikely that automobiles from Yugoslavia, which is now building a modern factory with annual capacity of 500,000 units, will be competitive here.

The New York Stock Exchange is also urging U.S. companies to export, but the exhortations aren't aimed at manufacturers. Securities dealers, says the Big Board, should be developing their markets in Western Europe and Japan.

For Representative LARRY S. PATTERSON MRS. JERRI PRUDEN

BOTTLES RECYCLED NEW YORK (AP) — More than 211 million used glass containers have been reclaimed and recycled into new bottles and jars during the first three months of 1972. It is reported by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute. This compares with 96 million bottles and jars collected by the public in the January-March quarter of 1971. The institute also reported that more than 1 billion bottles have been recycled into new glass containers and other second products since the reclaiming program began about two years ago.

We have written about Howard Cushing of Newport before. Howard claims that he is the prototype of East in all bridge columns and today's hand finds him sitting right where he claims to belong.

We don't know how he managed to get vulnerable. Probably John Crawford, who sat West, held some tremendous cards. As a matter of fact John held a pretty good hand this time.

He opened the king of spades and continued with the ace. Then he led the deuce.

Howard had contributed his one face card at trick one and was down to spot cards only. His trumps appeared to be almost worthless and he had to use one right then. He carefully ruffed with the eight.

South overruffed with the jack and led the queen of trumps. Johnny took his ace right away and led another spade. Howard ruffed this with his nine spot and South's contract was doomed.

Howard had used his eight and nine of hearts to force South to use two of his high trumps and thus establish his partner's 10 as the setting trick.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The U.S. government sponsored the emergency building of nearly 6,000 merchant marine vessels needed to support Allied efforts during World War II. The World Almanac recalls that the U.S. Merchant Marine lost 605 flag ships of about 6 million dead-weight tons while transporting supplies during the conflict.

ASTRO*GRAPH

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, June 28, 1972

In general: Complications and confusion are prevalent in today's affairs. Put your intuition to work to ferret out the hidden truths. Words to live by today: RESEARCH and REVEAL.

ASTRO*GRAPH divides your horoscope into 6 sections. Use the letters and numbers under your sign. Numbers describe today's influences. Letters give the section. Circled number evaluates your hidden aspects.
